

NATION-WIDE APPEAL MADE FOR LEO FRANK

Demand for Commutation of Death Sentence Practically Unanimous.

ATLANTA, May 24.—Probably never before in the history of the United States has there been such a country-wide demand for clemency for a convicted person as is being made for Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death here for the murder of Mary Phagan. As soon as the United States Supreme Court decided that there was no legal reason for upholding the verdict of the Georgia courts, the country awoke to the fact that there was no judicial hope for Frank, and that the only chance to save him from death on the gallows was by an appeal to the prison commission and to Gov. John M. Slaton for clemency.

The general opinion seems to be that the prison commission will recommend commutation and that Governor Slaton will confirm the recommendation. In fact it is said that two of the three members of the prison commission have declared that they intend to vote for commutation.

Letters Pouring In.
Every day since the Supreme Court destroyed Frank's last judicial hope, letters and telegrams have been pouring in to the governor and the prison commission. In one day as many as 3,500 letters and telegrams have been received at the capital and the number is steadily increasing as May 31, the date on which the prison commission will take up the case, draws near.

Already more than 500,000 messages have been received and it is predicted that before final action is taken more than a million names will be submitted to the prison commission and Governor Slaton in reference to Frank's appeal for a commutation of his sentence to one of imprisonment for life.

The messages are notable not only for their number, but also for the prominence of the men who have sent many of them. United States Senators, governors and members of Congress are among those who have appealed for clemency for Frank.

State Legislatures also are urging that the death sentence be commuted. Governor Slaton has been notified that the Legislature of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Texas and Tennessee have passed joint resolutions in Frank's behalf.

Georgians Sign Pleas.
But it is not only from other States that petitions are being received for Frank. Thousands of Georgians are signing pleas in his behalf. It is said that practically every banker in Atlanta and many other Georgia cities have requested clemency. Nearly all of the lawyers in Atlanta will urge that the sentence be commuted, according to reports.

One of the lawyers who is urging that clemency be shown is Basil Stockbridge, formerly assistant to Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank.

Thomas W. Loyless, editor of the Augusta Chronicle, furnishes the most notable example of the changed sentiment in regard to Frank. Loyless had always insisted that Frank is guilty and that he was fairly tried and justly convicted. The Augusta editor had been very cautious in his comments on persons outside Georgia who have criticized the Frank trial as unfair and attacked the Georgia courts.

Loyless, however, has written to the prison commission urging that Frank's death sentence be commuted.

Mrs. White to Discuss
"Woman of the World"

An address on "The Woman of the World," will be delivered by Mrs. John Jay White at the graduating exercises of the Colonial School, 1539 Eighteenth street, northwest, next Thursday morning, at 11 o'clock.

The commencement exercises of the school began Saturday with a debate, classic dancing and the reading of essays. The Rev. Dr. W. R. Wedderspoon preached the baccalaureate sermon in the school chapel yesterday. A French play is being staged this afternoon, to be followed by a glee club concert to-night and the presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" by the pupils on Wednesday afternoon.

The announcement of the award of prizes in the essay contest is awaited with interest, among the contestants being Misses Dorothy Georgan, Glorietta Piskley, Ruth Pierson, Frances Williams, Alice Randall and May Meade.

Corcoran Art School
Pupils to Get Awards

The presentation of awards of merit for the season of 1914-15 to the pupils of the Corcoran School of Art will be made next Friday evening. Coincident with the award of honors, an exhibition of the work of the pupils will be held.

At 78 Knits Quilt.

ALPHRETTA, Ga., May 24.—Mrs. L. E. Davis, living near Midway Church, Forsyth county, recently has completed a quilt which she calls "the sugar loaf." This quilt contains 429 pieces, and is an admirable product of the finger loom, every stitch having been done by Mrs. Davis, who is seventy-eight years old.

Keep the Children
Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 422 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

Italian Beats Up Two Big Germans

Scrap Was Result of Argument
Over War and King Emmanuel's Subject Won.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Eugenio Daylis, an Italian, met his German friends, Christopher Steuben and Theodore Teutsmann. Naturally, they discussed the war.

"One Italian," said Daylis, "can lick two Germans any day!"

"Here are two big Germans," remarked Steuben, "get busy!"

"Come on!" invited Teutsmann, throwing off his coat; "lick two Germans."

And Daylis did.

Dr. J. Clement Justin, to whom the Germans went for repairs, said that both Teutsmann and Steuben were badly beaten. Their faces were cut, their eyes blackened and their clothing torn where the Italian had grabbed them and banged their heads together.

After the physician had fixed them up the Germans went to the police station and lodged a complaint against Daylis.

Big June Bug Is Blamed
For Motor Car Wreck

A big "June bug" was responsible for an automobile accident at Wisconsin avenue and Newark street yesterday which resulted in George A. Sacks, seventeen years old, of Bradley Hills, Md., being painfully cut on the face with flying glass and considerable damage to the machine.

Sacks was driving his father's car when the bug flew into his eye and caused him to lose control of the machine. The car swerved and crashed into a telegraph pole.

Nursing Class With Real Babies Formed

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Not only may Los Angeles girls learn to cook and sew in the public schools, but they may become students of baby culture with real live, gurgling, wriggling babies to practice on.

A course in the care and nursing of infants has been added as a permanent feature of the curriculum of the Polytechnic Evening High School, and the first class, numbering thirty-five pupils, includes a dozen young mothers, and prospective brides as well as younger girls.

Bishop Shahan Confirms
Class at St. Patrick's

The sacrament of confirmation was administered to 200 children and sixty adults at St. Patrick's church yesterday afternoon by Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University.

Bishop Shahan was assisted by the Very Rev. George A. Dougherty, vice rector of the university, and the Rev. John M. McNamara, assistant rector of St. Patrick's. Mr. Russell and the clergy of the parish, occupied seats in the sanctuary.

Protests against the proposed extension of the lines of the Capital Traction Company in Seventeenth street northwest, were filed with the Public Utilities Commission today by Miss Annie H. Eastman, 176 Seventeenth street, and Mrs. James H. Saville, 1420 Seventeenth street. Miss Eastman says there are a number of schools in the neighborhood of Seventeenth street, and pupils would be endangered by having to cross the tracks.

Mrs. Saville's protest is based on the ground that a car line would tend to depreciate property values. Arguments for and against the proposed extension will be considered by the commission at a public hearing in the board room of the District building Wednesday at 10 a. m.

The War Department has been obliged virtually to abandon student military camps. The reason lies in the fact that the controller of the Treasury disapproved accounts, amounting to $5,000, expended in connection with such camps last year.

The camps have been productive of much benefit to the young men attending them. Secretary Garrison warmly supported them and is expected to ask Congress for legislation to enable them to be held.

Student Military Camps
Now Must Be Abandoned

The following changes in personnel at the Department of Commerce were announced today.

In the office of the Secretary, the temporary appointments of Dwight G. Washburn as skilled laborer at $730, and Miss Blanche R. Seaton as telephone operator at $720, have been extended.

In the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Paul J. Croghan, clerk, has been promoted $1,000, and Harry A. Lobell, Jr., Hurdus J. Oakley, Edward A. Brey, Robert A. Lay, and Edward Smill.

In the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Harrison R. Bartlett, aid, has been designated as chief of party with bond in the sum of $2,000; the temporary appointment of Charles L. Peverill as clerk at $200 has been extended; and Adolph Christensen has been provisionally appointed as mate at $110 a month for service in the Philippines.

PLAYLET 'WAR BRIDES'
SILLY, SHE DECLARES

Mrs. Isabelle Worrell Ball Assails
"Festering Thought" Which, She Says, May Rot America.

"Disgraceful and decadent" are the adjectives which Mrs. Isabelle Worrell Ball, past national senior vice president of the Woman's Relief Corps of the Army and Navy Union, applies to the playlet, "War Brides," in which Miss Nazimova is now starring.

She delivered her denunciation when she appeared last night before the members of the union at memorial exercises in Metropolitan M. E. Church.

She lauded women who have offered up their sons on their nation's altar, and assailed the women who protest against the bearing of "war babies." The "festering thought" which produced "war brides," she asserted, will rot American civilization, and she called the protest a "silly fad."

Let our "war-baby" protestants carry themselves to Arlington National Cemetery on Memorial Day, and they will see women who are proud because they gave their sons to the nation, glad that their sons were men who would die for a nation and still loving the nation that took them. The play "War Brides" was a miserable, disgusting, and silly piece of weak sentimentalism without any appeal to the good women of this country who are willing to give their own and their sons' lives for their country."

Mrs. Post Discusses Work of Peace Congress, and Principles Declared.

"Women demand that war shall cease. They ask that a congress of neutral nations be called for continual mediation until the present world conflict is ended."

"They ask that when the peace conference meets at the conclusion of the war it consider principles of permanent peace instead of the principles of the peace of exhaustion."

Such is the message from the International Congress of Women, which recently met at The Hague, to the Washington branch of the Woman's Peace Party, and brought by Mrs. Louis F. Post, wife of the Assistant Secretary of Labor.

Mrs. Post accompanied Jane Addams to Holland. She appeared this afternoon before a special meeting of the local Woman's Peace Party at the home of Mrs. Christian Hemmick.

TELLS OF WOMEN'S MEETING AT HAGUE

Mrs. Post accompanied Jane Addams to Holland. She appeared this afternoon before a special meeting of the local Woman's Peace Party at the home of Mrs. Christian Hemmick.

That the gathering of women of all nations at The Hague furnishes the greatest expression of international sentiment for the abolition of war in the world's history, is claimed by Mrs. Post. She also declares that the conclusions reached by the congress were logical, consistent expressions, and not the result of hysteria.

Among the principles advocated by the women at The Hague, according to Mrs. Post, were:

"That there shall be no transfer of territory without the consent of those dwelling therein."

"That all future international disagreements shall be referred to arbitration and conciliation."

"That all nations agree to unite in bringing social, moral and economic pressure upon any country resorting to arms."

"That the manufacture of arms and armament be nationalized, and that all foreign investments, in any nation, be held at the risk of the investor and without the protection of the nation to which the investor belongs."

Sunday Gets Wild
GOODBY, $24,000

Twelve Thousand Jam Paterson
Tabernacle as Evangelist
Ends Services.

PATERSON, N. J., May 24.—Billy Sunday today is being congratulated on all sides on the success of his seven-weeks' revival which came to a close with four big mass meetings at which he bade good-by to 12,000 men, women, and children who jammed the big tabernacle.

The close of the evangelist's campaign was the wildest of his ninety-two services. Before it was over 1,125 had "hit the sawdust trail," and many more had to be restrained because of the dangerous crowding. Women, faint with heat and hysteria, poured out of the building before the climax was reached; six who remained too long had to be carried, swooning, to the emergency hospital.

After the meeting Sunday was given a draft for $24,000, his "thank offering" from Paterson alone. Orange, Montclair and other surrounding cities are yet to be heard from.

Day's Offering $7,800.

Paterson is far smaller than Philadelphia, but the "offering" on the final day in Paterson was $7,800, as compared to $4,800 on the closing day in the Quaker City.

On Easter, with the ground white with snow, Sunday began his campaign, and not every one was sure he would repeat his Philadelphia triumph. But in the seven weeks in Paterson $9,850 persons heard him preach in the tabernacle, and 14,504 hit the trail. The estimated cost of the campaign was $20,000, which was met some time ago.

Last night's service will be remembered long in Paterson. Fully 17,000 persons tried to see it. Five thousand had to be turned away. The night began with singing. Every one seemed caught in the spirit of the thing, and the tabernacle vibrated with the booming tones of the old hymns.

Abruptly Sunday began his sermon. "And he said 'tomorrow'!" was his text. "Too many of you put off salvation until tomorrow!" he cried; "and then you find that tomorrow never comes. Some of you seem to be doing your utmost to break into hell."

"Good-by, fellow sinners; my messages are delivered; I have pleaded with you, but I could not compel you to accept Jesus Christ. I bid you all good-by. I hope we will all meet in heaven, where we won't have to say good-by."

Law School Graduates
Hear Dr. J. H. Nelms

Lack of laws can result only in license and violence, according to Dr. J. Henning Nelms, who yesterday delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the Washington College of Law in St. John's Church. He said: "Rapine, violence, license would result if each individual performed as he saw right in his own eyes. There must be the guidance of the whole society, there must be government."

"Those of you who helped make these laws, those who helped uphold them, know these things. History teaches it to us."

The Battle of Health

Success in maintaining the battle line of good health depends largely on the good digestion of nourishing food.

Beer aids digestion, stimulating the secretion of gastric juice. It nourishes because of the carbohydrate elements it contains. Its malt is food; its hops, tonic. It invigorates, soothes and cleanses the entire system.
